A calmer year with your Spanish home

Owning a home in Spain comes with a handful of yearly tasks. None of them is difficult, but they are spread across the year and set by different offices. This guide puts them in one calendar, so you always know what comes next.

The essentials at a glance

- From 2027, the Modelo 210 for a home you do not let opens on 1 April instead of 1 January.
- Local taxes such as IBI and rubbish tax follow dates set by your own town hall.
- A funded account and a tidy folder of papers take care of most of the year.

Winter: set up the year

Very little has to be filed in winter. It is the best time to check that the payments for the year ahead are in place.

01 IBI is fixed on 1 January

Whoever owns the home on 1 January is liable for the whole year's local property tax. Your town hall will tell you later in the year when it is collected.

1 JANUARY

02 Check every direct debit

Power, water, the community and the town hall can all change their amounts in the new year. Make sure the account they come from has room for them.

03 Gather last year's paperwork

Put last year's IBI receipt, community statements and any rental invoices in one folder. You will need them for the spring returns.

04 Letting short-term? Check your region

Spain's Supreme Court annulled the national register for short-term lets in May 2026. Your region's tourist registration rules still apply, so check them before the season.

ONLY IF YOU LET

Spring: the tax returns

New rules from the Spanish tax office move both Modelo 210 returns to start in April from 2027. There is one return a year for each, never a quarterly one.

01 If you let your home: 1 to 20 April

Rental income from 2026 is reported in one return. To pay it by direct debit, file by 15 April.

DIRECT DEBIT BY 15 APRIL

02 If you do not let it: from 1 April

The return for 2026 can be filed from 1 April to 31 December 2027. Filing in spring simply gets it out of the way.

NEW IN 2027

03 Get the home ready for summer

Service the air conditioning, check the pool and garden, and test the alarm before the busy months. Tradespeople are easier to book in spring.

Wealth tax only concerns owners whose net assets in Spain are above €700,000, or whose assets in Spain are worth more than €2 million in total. Most owners never need to file it.

Summer: the local bills and the community

Many town halls collect their local taxes in the second half of the year, and summer is when many owners are in Spain to deal with them.

IBI, the local property tax

Each town hall sets its own payment period. The dates are printed on your bill, the recibo, and a direct debit means it is paid even if the letter never reaches you.

Rubbish tax, the basura

This is also set locally. Some towns add it to the IBI bill and others send it on its own, so check which applies where you are.

Community fees and the annual meeting

By law the owners' meeting is held at least once a year to approve the budget and the accounts. If you cannot attend, you can give someone a written proxy to vote for you.

Check your cadastral value

The valor catastral is on your IBI bill and in the Catastro's online office. It is the figure behind both your IBI and your Modelo 210, so it is worth checking that the size and use of your home are recorded correctly.

Autumn: close the year well

The last months are about leaving the home safe for winter and making sure the year's return is filed.

01 Look at your insurance before it renews

Spanish home insurance renews automatically. To cancel or change it, tell the insurer in writing at least one month before the renewal date.

ONE MONTH'S NOTICE

02 Prepare the home for winter

Turn off the water, put out moisture absorbers and ask someone to look in while you are away. Our winter guide covers each step.

03 File the return for a home you do not let

The Modelo 210 for 2026 is due by 31 December 2027. To pay it by direct debit, file by 23 December.

BY 31 DECEMBER

Before 2027 begins: the return for 2025 still follows the old timetable and is due by 31 December 2026, or 23 December 2026 to pay by direct debit.

The 2027 dates to keep in mind

1 January

IBI for 2027 is set on whoever owns the home on this day.

1 to 20 April

Rental income from 2026 is reported. File by 15 April to pay by direct debit.

31 December

Last day for the 2026 return on a home you do not let. File by 23 December to pay by direct debit.

Keep these papers in one place

NIE

Your foreigner's tax number. Every return, bill and contract in Spain asks for it.

Deeds

The escritura shows what you own and in what share, which matters when there are several owners.

Receipts

IBI, basura, community and insurance receipts prove that each bill was paid.

Tax returns

Keep each Modelo 210 and its proof of payment. Your home country may ask to see them too.

Invoices

If you let your home, invoices for repairs and running costs support the deductions on your return.

A year for one owner in Sweden

Anna lives in Sweden and does not let her apartment. Her town hall collects IBI in September and rubbish tax in October. Your own local dates will differ.
